DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1 and 10-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Vaisanen (USP 6356967).

Regarding claims 1 and 10, Vaisanen discloses a system comprising a transmission unit (Fig 1, Ref 12) and an reception unit associated with said transmission unit (Fig 1, Ref 14), said transmission unit transmitting synchronization signals to said associated reception unit (Col. 1, lines 24-38), where each bus system has at least one transmission unit and at least one associated reception unit (Fig 1, Ref 12 and 14 is a bus system), said transmission unit using a central clock to generate said synchronization signals autonomously for cyclic transmission to said associated reception unit, wherein said central clock is prescribed for each of said transmission units in a bus system (Fig 1, Ref 13 is common clock for the transmission units 12 in a bus system).

Regarding claim 11, Vaisanen discloses a common clock for the bus systems (Fig 1, Ref 13).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 2665

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 5-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Vaisanen (USP 6356967).

Regarding claim 5, Vaisanen fails to disclose a clock division before transmitting the clock signal. However, the examiner take an official notice that a method and apparatus for using a divider for dividing the clock signal from a source into a different clock is well known and expected in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to apply a divider for dividing the common clock signal into the clock signals into Vaisanen's system and method. The motivation would have been to reduce the cost of the system.

Regarding claim 6, Vaisanen fails to disclose a frequency multiplication is effected within PLL before using the common clock. However, the examiner take an official notice that a method and apparatus for using frequency multiplication within PLL before common clock being used by the transmitter is well known and expected in the art. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to apply a frequency multiplication in the PLL in order to generate clock signals into Vaisanen's system and method. The motivation would have been to reduce the cost of the system.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-4, 7-9 objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

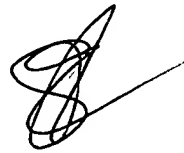

Bingham (USP 5680394) discloses a method and system for using a master clock for the transceivers and a transceiver transmits clock signal to the destination node.
